DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: claims 10, 12, 17 and 21 have been sufficiently amended as to overcome the claim objections of the Office Action dated 24 May 2004. Similarly, objections to claims 11 and 13 have been withdrawn.

Claims 10 and 11 are deemed novel over the prior art cited in the Office Action of 24 May 2004, notably Edwards and Moran. The claimed user-drawn arrow circumscribing at least one object and associating circumscribed on-screen objects with the drawn arrow are not explicitly taught by the prior art of record.

Claims 12 and 13 are deemed novel over the prior art cited in the Office Action of 24 May 2004, notably Edwards. The claimed user-drawn arrow vertex selecting at least one object and associating on-screen objects within a user definable distance of the drawn arrow vertex are not explicitly taught by the prior art of record.

Claim 17 is deemed novel over the prior art cited in the Office Action of 24 May 2004, notably Edwards. The claimed user-drawn double-headed arrow for conveying transactions such as a swap transaction between at least one on-screen object and a further on-screen object is not explicitly taught by the prior art of record.

Claim 21 is deemed novel over the prior art cited in the Office Action of 24 May 2004, notably Edwards. The claimed user-drawn arrow conveying a transaction for directing a plurality of electronic signals from at least one on-screen object to a further on-screen object and including summing of electronic signals before entering the further on-screen object is not explicitly taught by the prior art of record.
